

Canadian Society of Combined Laboratory and X-Ray Technologists

Barb Mikulin Award

The Barb Mikulin Award was created in Alberta to honour a dedicated member of the CLXT profession. Barb was an active member in the ACCLXT and a contributing member to her community. She tirelessly volunteered for everything and was a shining example to all who knew her. She contributed countless hours to the growth of the CLXT profession in Alberta, expected great things and wanted to ensure that the profession achieved them. Barb was the definition of professionalism, and above all else, put her patients first, and treated all people – coworkers, employees, friends – with the utmost respect.

This award recognizes a CSCLXT member who demonstrates these qualities in a Combined Laboratory and X-Ray Technologist. The recipient will be announced at the national spring Conference. The Nominee for this award will:

- Be a Class A Voting Member in good standing with the CSCLXT
- Be an active participant in a provincial society or regulatory body or a national society, by offering her/his time and efforts
- Be someone who actively serves as a volunteer in their work and/or community
- Be someone who helps promote the CLXT profession
- Be a mentor or advocate for the profession